

"What I think about me is more important than what other people think about me."

What I Think

I determine what my core beliefs and values are, and make my decisions based on these. I don't live my life for the approval and validation of other people; what I think about me is more important than what other people think about me.

